This matter is before the Court on defendant's motion to stay enforcement of judgment pending appeal without bond, or in the alternative, to set a supersedeas bond (Filing No. 625). The defendant filed an accompanying brief (Filing No. 626), and index of evidence (Filing No. 627). The plaintiff responded to the motion (Filing No. 628) in which the defendant replied (Filing No. 629). The Court finds as follows.

Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure,

If an appeal is taken, the appellant may obtain a stay by supersedeas bond, except in an action described in Rule 62(a)(1) or (2). The bond may be given upon or after filing the notice of appeal or after obtaining the order allowing the appeal. The stay takes effect when the court approves the bond.

Fed. R. Civ. P. 62(d). "The philosophy underlying Rule 62(d) is that a plaintiff who has won in the trial court should not be put to the expense of defending his judgment on appeal unless the defendant takes reasonable steps to assure that the judgment will be paid if it is affirmed." Lightfoot v. Walker, 797 F.2d 505, 506-07 (7th Cir. 1986). In the alternative, the appellant may move the Court to waive the bond requirement. See Dillon v. City of Chicago, 866 F.2d 902, 904 (7th Cir. 1988). The district court may look to several factors to determine whether waiving the bond requirement is appropriate. Some of the factors include:

- (1) the complexity of the collection process;
- (2) the amount of time required to obtain a judgment after it is affirmed on appeal;
- (3) the degree of confidence that the district court has in the availability of funds to pay the judgment;
- (4) whether the defendant's ability to pay the judgment is so plain that the cost of a bond would be a waste of money; and
- (5) whether the defendant is in such a precarious financial situation that the requirement to post a bond would place other creditors of the defendant in an insecure position.

See Id. at 904-05 (internal citations omitted). It is in the district court's discretion to waive the bond requirement.

After reviewing the facts, the briefs, and relevant case law, the Court finds that it will stay the enforcement of the judgment pending appeal without the posting of a supersedeas bond. The defendant has demonstrated an availability of funds to pay the judgment, and that the cost of the bond would be a waste of money. Accordingly,

IT IS ORDERED that the defendant's motion is granted. No supersedeas bond need be posted and the enforcement of the judgment is stayed pending appeal.

DATED this 27th day of January, 2015.

09/11/2013	147	MEMORANDUM AND ORDER - The 1-day, 7-hour period designated by the Federal Rules shall apply separately to each representative designated for 30(b)(6) deposition. The appearance of a witness as a 30(b)(6) designee shall not affect either party's right to take a deposition of that witness in their individual capacity for the full duration contemplated by the Federal Rules. Cargill's request for an order compelling Cargill to limit the number of topics in its 30(b)(6) deposition notice is denied. Cargill's request for a protective order is denied with respect to the content of Deposition Topic No. (34). Cargill is free to make objections at the deposition to protect confidential attorney-client communications and work product, but Cargill must disclose any communications or work product that was previously disclosed to a third party. Inquiry under Topic Nos. 13, 14, and 30 shall be limited to the year 2007. Cargill's request for more restrictive temporal limits on Topic Nos. 18, 20, 23, 24, and 39 is denied.
